

ONE LANGUAGE SETS YOU IN A CORRIDOR FOR LIFE.
TWO LANGUAGES OPEN
EVERY DOOR ALONG
THE WAY.

...
Frank Smith

A-Level Languages

Have you asked yourself why study a language at A-level? Here a few ideas:

1. We live in a multilingual, global society. A level in a language will foster a range of transferable skills such as communication, critical thinking, research skills, creativity.
2. Make your CV stand out and increase your job opportunities.
3. Exciting and more relevant topics and areas: political and artistic culture, social issues, etc.
4. The Russell Group, which represents 24 leading UK universities, defines MFL as one of their facilitating subjects.
5. Not everybody speaks English.

Top tip:
"Choosing an A-level language is a really smart move if you want a fascinating subject that offers you a range of career possibilities at the end and are a lot of fun along the way."

So why NOT study a language at A level?

1

Where can A level take you?

Languages are a skill useful in a wide variety of professions

- Business and commerce
- Foreign affairs and international relations
- Advertising
- Airline services
- Medicine
- Education
- Hotel management
- Law and communications
- Import/export specialists
- Editing and publishing
- Subtitles and Voice-Overs

What is A level at language?

- 2 year course.
- 100% examination
- 3 exams
 - Paper 1 Listening, Reading and Writing
 - Paper 2 Writing
 - Paper 3 Speaking

What will I study?

Year 1:
Aspects of society
Artistic culture in the world where the language is spoken
Analysis of a film

Year 2:
Multiculturalism in society
Aspects of political life in society
Grammar
Analysis of a film and a book from the list set in the specification

With languages, you are at home anywhere
Edward De Waal

2